MINISTRY

Directions: Answer each question by circling the most appropriate answer. Don't be tempted to respond untruthfully to put yourself in a more positive light, or to say what you think people want to hear-answer honestly. If none of the options are quite right, choose the one that is closest, and put a question mark in the margin next to it.

1. I am (not very, moderately, totally) convinced that God has uniquely gifted me to minister to others. I am (not very, moderately, totally) convinced that He is holding me responsible to develop and use those gifts.
2. I (haven't thought much about, am interested in, am totally committed to) discovering and developing my spiritual gifts, natural talents, and acquired skills for the good of the Body of Christ and the expansion of the Kingdom of God.
3. I (have, have not) begun to use my natural talents and/or acquired skills to minister to the needs of others.
4. I am aware of the various spiritual gifts (yes, no). I have begun the process of discovering mine (yes, no). I have discovered my spiritual gift(s) and it is (they are): _____
5. I am (not very, somewhat, very) well-informed of the different types of ministries available to me, and I (have, have not) begun to evaluate which ones I would be best suited for.
6. I feel I have a (shallow, average, thorough) knowledge of what is involved in the initial follow-up of a new Christian, and actually have followed up ____ people.
7. I have a (weak, average, strong) desire and tendency to put others first, and to act as their servant.
8. I look at my job (check the statement that most closely describes you):
____ simply as a means by which I earn money to support myself and my family. It has little or nothing to do with my actual ministry.
____ primarily as a means by which I earn money to support myself and my family, but I do occasionally get the chance to minister there.
____ as how I support my family, but I do end up performing a lot of ministry there.
____ as one of the primary contexts of my personal ministry, and the way by which I happen to be able to support myself and my family.
9. I am (not very, somewhat, strongly, totally) convinced that my ministry would be fruitless without God's full involvement in it, and this fact is reflected (not very much, somewhat, strongly, totally) in how much time I spend in prayer regarding my ministry, how I prepare for ministry, and my attitude while ministering.
10. I am (not very, somewhat, strongly, totally) diligent, responsible and accountable to God for the faithful performance of my ministry.
11. I am getting involved (not at all, a little, increasingly, a lot) in a wide variety of ministries and service projects, with the specific intentions of gaining a servant's heart and more accurately assessing my own areas of giftedness.
12. I think the following terms describe the attitudes I possess in ministering to and serving others: (Assign a number value to each: 1 = very descriptive; 2 = somewhat descriptive; 3 = not very ____humble ____diligent ____faithful ____obedient (to God and human authorities)

____honest ____kind ____compassionate ____joyful ____impartial

13. I have a (minimal, average, thorough) knowledge of the basic principles of discipling, and am currently discipling ____ people.
14. I have a (minimal, average, above-average, thorough) knowledge of basic leadership principles, and I am employing them within the sphere of my ministry (not at all, not very much, somewhat, quite a bit, all the time).
15. I am (never, rarely, sometimes, frequently) hard-working, selfless, and willing to endure hardship and even danger for the sake of my ministry.
16. I have a pretty good idea of what my areas of giftedness are, and I am taking steps to develop myself in those areas (yes, no). I believe I will be the most effective in the following type(s) of ministry(ies): _____

17. As much as I can tell, my primary motivation in ministering is (rarely, sometimes, usually, always) love. (If not "always", what are some other things that sometimes motivate you in ministry?) _____

18. As I perform the duties of my ministry, whatever they may be, my foremost desire is (rarely, sometimes, frequently, always) to help influence those I minister to toward Christlikeness.
19. I have (quite a few, some, hardly any, no) reservations about younger Christians looking to me as an example of Christlike behavior.
20. I take a leadership role within the sphere of my ministry (never, rarely, sometimes, frequently, all the time).
